

As an American, I think that Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary is evidence that allowing more consolidation is a major danger to democracy. It is no stretch that it's a step towards "control of the masses."

As I understand it the public airwaves belong to me and that Sinclair is using them free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. Forcing stations to air a political point of view that is not countered by the opposing point of view at least is beginning to smell like the control of nazi Germany, Russia etc. I think this is evidence that you MUST act to prevent consolidation.
